

Money Medical

Healthy Money Management

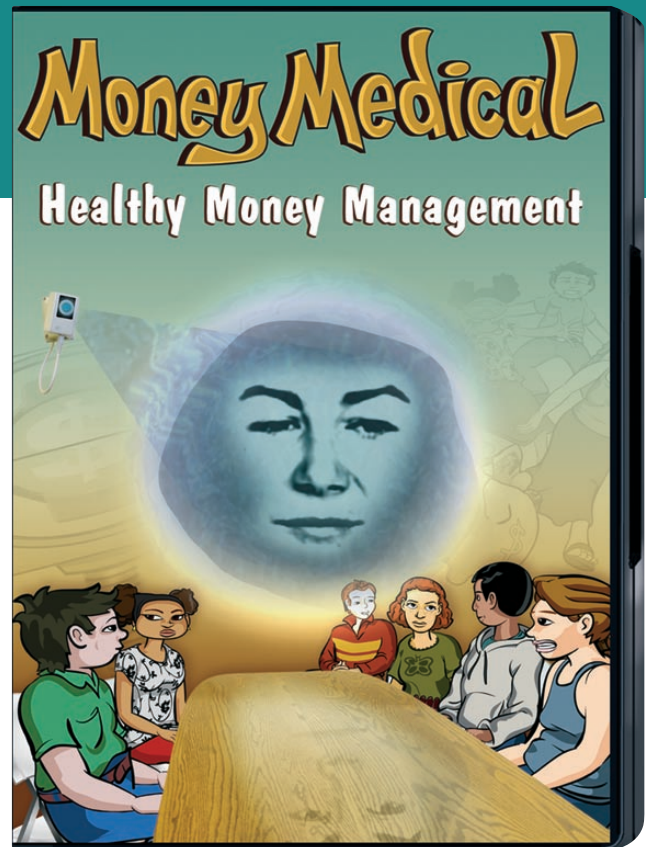

Dealing with money is a major hassle. In Money Medical, teens learn the skills and attitudes that put them in charge of their money with lessons on budgeting, banking, credit and loans, credit counseling and smart spending.

Then Money Medical delves into money attitudes and spending behaviors and looks at ways to recognize and change unhealthy “money scripts.”

There are eight 45-minute units of instruction, each with interactive exercises, handouts and homework that will guide students step-by-step through building a budget and controlling spending. A booklet, “The Big Book of Financial Health,” is included as a PDF file and a printed copy is required for each student.
